1. ALEXANDER GORDON, born Scotland ca. 1630, died at Exeter, New Hampshire 1697. Donald Whyte's Scottish Emigrants to the U.S.A., 1972, says, "possibly from Morayshire. To Watertown, Massachusetts, 1652. Royalist prisoner. Granted 20 acres at Exeter, N.H. ..."

Alexander Gordon was a young Scotsman, a soldier in the Scottish army of 1651, which came into England with the design to place King Charles II. on the throne, then vacant by the execution of his father, King Charles I., in 1649. Lieutenant General Monk defeated the Scots at the battle of Worcester, September 3, 1651 and most of King Charles's "armie was either killed or taken, being oversett with numbers at least fyve to one" [Sir Robert Gordon of Gordonstoun, Baronet, Genealogical History of the Earldom of Southerland, Edinburgh 1813 p 561]. Alexander thus became a prisoner of war and with several thousand of his countrymen, was held in prison camp at Tothill Field, Westminster, London, near St. Margaret's church. There he spent the winter of 1651-52. An article in the magazine of the Massachusetts Historical Society, called "Scotch Deported to New England, 1651-52" (Vol. 61, 1927-28, beginning on page 4) states that "As a result of various proposals, an unknown number, perhaps three hundred of the Scotch prisoners captured at the Battle of Worcester then encamped at Tothill Field, were selected for transportation to New England. There followed other consignments of human freight shipped to America which found distribution among the towns of Massachusetts and the adjacent provinces, as the story of the first consignment had whetted the envy of those who had failed to procure cheap labor from this new kind of auction block. It had the sanction of John Cotton and that was enough to deaden the New England conscience". They were sold to planters and mill owners, the usual terms prevailing as to price and length of service (six years).

"It is not to be supposed that those who engaged in this traffic, euphemistically hidden with the label of "apprenticeships", should hesitate to drive their helpless servants to the point of ill treatment, although it is not believed that this was a general situation. However on May 23, 1655, a number of them complained of this inevitable outgrowth of bondage and petitioned the General Court of Massachusetts for freedom, but their request was refused ..."

For a year or more Alexander Gordon remained with John Cloyes, a boatswain or mate of the vessel, dwelling in Cambridge on the then road to Watertown, near present Cambridge Hospital. While there, he formed the acquaintance of a Mr. Samuel Stratton of Watertown with whom he made a six year contract on April 25, 1653 as an apprentice, to learn the art of husbandry. "Samuel Stratton of Watertown bought one of these Scotchmen ... It is, of course, an open question whether these men, unable to sign their names, could read the indentures by which they were bound and in this particular case it is clear that Alexander Gordon ... was a victim of ill treatment".

On the 3rd of Nov 1663, through the benevolence of a resident of Cambridge, Alexander Gordon appealed to the court in Massachusetts and was released from his contract. He went up the coast of the Piscataqua River by water to Portsmouth. The tradition in the family is that he continued up the Swampscott River to Exeter in an open boat where he entered the employ of Nicholas Lysson who was sawing lumber in the sawmill at Swampscott Falls at Exeter. Alexander Gordon married Mary Lysson/Listen, a daughter of his employer, in 1663, was placed in charge of a small mill on the Little River, so called, built his cabin on land given him by Nicholas Lysson, to which the town added a grant of 20 acres in 1664. There he planted and farmed, raised his family and died in 1697.

On November 30, 1677 Alexander Gordon took the oath of allegiance to King Charles II. He served on various scouting parties against the Indians in King William's war. (See History of the Town of Exeter, New Hampshire by Charles H. Bell, 1888).

History of Saco & Biddeford by G. Folsom p 243: In the summer of 1746 a scout of the enemy prowled around the settlements in the neighborhood of Falmouth and of this town. On the morning of Sept 6 two young men, sons of Mr. Joseph Gordon, named Pike and Joseph, were surprised by them while on the way from their father's house (near where Benjamin Gordon now lives) to the Falls. They were employed in the Cole mill, and left home between daylight and sunrise to go to their work. As they were passing a blacksmith's shop, which stood a few rods below the house of Capt. James Murch, the Indians rushed from behind it into the road; the young men turned and ran. Joseph, who was very swift of foot, was likely to escape, and called out to his brother to quicken his pace, when the savages fearing they should lose him, fired and killed him on the spot. Pike was taken by a part of the scout who lay concealed further down the road, and was carried to Canada.

15. DANIEL GORDON (Thomas[2], Alexander[1]) Born at Haverhill, Mass. 1 Dec 1704,d. at Raymond, N.H. 16 Apr 1786. Daniel's parents moved to Exeter N.H. about 1710. He married Susanna Smith, b. 1706, d. 9 Mar 1786, ae 80y. Record of Cong. Church of Brentwood, N.H. I:117 says, "dau. of Ithiel Smith, wife of Daniel Gordon died ..."
The following copied from Blanche Gordon Cobb's ms.:
The First Church of Kingston, N.H. was organized in 1725. Rev. Ward Clark was pastor until 1738 when he was succeeded by Rev. Joseph Secomb. During two years 1740 to 1742 there were 143 persons admitted to the church. Daniel Gordon and his wife were probably among this number, although they may have been admitted earlier, during the pastorate of Rev. Ward Clark. The fact that there is no record in this church of the baptism of their oldest child, Ithiel, would seem to indicate that the parents were not members of this Church before 1740. Their daughter Susanna was baptised 23 Oct 1745 and their son Josiah 25 May 1746 at the First Church of Kingston, where the parents were members. It is possible that the family were living in Brentwood, and the parents joined the Second Church of Brentwood when it was organized in 1751. Daniel Gordon and wife Susanna, Benoni Gordon and wife Abigail, and Ithiel Smith and wife Hannah (Gordon) Smith, with others, were dismissed by letter from the First Church in Kingston on 24 Jan 1751 to join the new Second Church in Brentwood, which was organized 23 Jul 1751. There were thirty one who came as a colony from the First Church of Kingston.

In 1756 the Second Church, then known as the "Gully Church", and the "Borough Church" which was organized in Brentwood about ten or twelve years before the Second Church, were united and became the Union Church of Brentwood. Daniel Gordon and his wife, Benoni Gordon (younger bro. of Daniel) and his wife, and Hannah (Gordon) Smith all became members of this Union Church. For some reason Ithiel Smith did not become a member of the Union Church.

There was a petition dated 26 Jan 1764 to have this part of Chester set off to Raymond. This petition was signed by Daniel Gordon and by Daniel Gordon Jr. This petition was granted and the town of Raymond was incorporated in 1764.

In 1781 Susanna Gordon was dismissed to join the Baptist Church of Brentwood.

23. DUDLEY GORDON (John[3],[2], Alexander[1]) Born Boxford, Mass.? 1 Apr 1737, died before 1792. Bap. as an adult 7 Dec 1755 at Biddeford., Me. Res. Dayton, Me. Married 19 Dec 1781 Mary Rumery, b. 1760, dau. of Capt. Thomas Rumery. Since Dudley was so much older than Molly/Mary Rumery, was she a 2nd wife? Dudley was a member of the Committee of Safety.
Children, at least two:

i Edward, b. after 1781. Is this the Edward who married 22 Feb 1867, Susannah Ridlon of Buxton? OR, is this the Edward Dudley Gordon found among the family sheets of G. A. Gordon, at the library of the NEHGS?, born 1790 York Co. Me., m. 1812 Mary Bessy, dau. of John Bessy of Bridgewater? Mass., b. in the state of New York 30 Nov 1797. Res. Chenango Co. N.Y. Mr. Gordon died there 1817. Mrs. Gordon died 10 Aug 1860. Children: John Bessy Gordon, b. 23 Dec 1814; m. 1st Margaret Higbee, b. 20 Apr 1816, d. 15 Oct 1835. Res. Veray, Ind.; m. 2nd 27 Oct 1837 Laura Bartlett Niles, b. 29 Aug 1812., and, his second child, Edward Dudley Gordon, b. 1817. Children of John B. and Laura (Bartlett) Gordon: 1.Mary Elizabeth, b. 1 Apr 1839, d. 15 Jul 1839, and 2.Bishop Dudley, b. 23 Jul 1843, d. 10 May 1844.
There is yet another Edward Gordon cited in York Co. Probate 27:26, 27:98 and 28:358-9 whose wife Abigail Gordon of Hollis, widow, was appointed administratrix of the estate of Edward Gordon, late of Hollis, yeoman. This Edward Gordon died April 1819 while Jesse Locke was his guardian. {see Maine Genealogist vol 20 #2 p 86).

ii Betsey, b. after 1781. Did Betsey marry of Hollis, 8 May 1812, and die in a few years leaving John Dow free to marry Susan Jellison, 21 May 1818?

24. JOHN GORDON JR. (John[3],[2], Alexander[1]) Born 8 Mar 1741, d. 19 Jun 1775. Married Mercy Wadlin of Biddeford on 12 Aug 1760. Did they have a son John Jr., in 1790 census with a wife, 2 sons under 16 and one dau.? And did the son marry Mary Clark 26 Jan 1785?

25. JOHN GORDON (Joseph[3], John[2], Alexander[1]) Born 19 Dec 1727, probably married 19 Nov 1752, Betty Gordon in Biddeford. She was bap. as an adult 12 Aug 1752 and I have set her down as dau. of John and Hannah Gordon #8, though without proof. From probate records it would seem that John died childless in 1808, his brother Zebulon being named adm. of his estate 31 Oct of that year. Zebulon died before his adm. was completed and his son, Reuben, was named adm. in his place 29 Oct 1810. (Boston transcript, S. Noyes, I think).

Child, possibly:

i John, b. ca. 1753, d. before 1808; m. Margaret ____. Child Cyrus, b. 1778, d. 25 Dec 1869, 91y 2m 1d, m. ____, and had child: John H. Lymington 3 Feb 1828.

Children of John H. Gordon and Phebe Foss:

1. Francena Gordon, b. Saco 15 Dec 1850, d. 27 Apr 1866 15y.
2. Llewellen Gordon b. Hollis 24 Jan 1854, d. 19 Nov 1874 20y.

Llewellen m. Jun 1873 Lucinda Gordon.

Child of John H. Gordon and Margaret J. McKenney:

3. Etta E., b. 1863, d. 17__ 1882, 19y 9m 2d.

26. ANDREW GORDON (Joseph[3], John[2], Alexander[1]) The Gordon Family by G. T. Ridlon: "Andrew Gordon of Biddeford, was probably the first person who made an attempt to settle in the plantation of Little Falls, now in Dayton. He and John Gordon came into the forest in 1753 and attempted to clear land, but were driven away by the Indians. He abandoned his claim and entered the army in the Canada expedition; on his return he resumed work on his land near the celebrated boiling spring, and made there a fine farm. While cutting down the forest, he and John built a camp for shelter, but boarded at their parents' home in Biddeford, walking back and forth by a river path. He, Andrew, was a large, powerful man. In 1802 he became dependent, being aged, and the town voted to care for him, and to see if his children had means to render him assistance. From Andrew and John the Gordon families, locally called Gerding, in Dayton, were descended."

John and Andrew were both on Committee of Safety (Maine Hist. & Gen. Recorder, Vol 8 Little Falls, "Lieut. Edward Smith. A list of the men equts Littel Fall August 8, 1778")

Andrew Gordon was born Biddeford, Maine 4 Aug 1730; was living 1802 at which time he had become dependent on his children and d. before Nov 1811, when his brother, John's estate was settled. His mar. int. was filed 3 Dec 1757 to his second cousin, Martha Whitten of Arundel, daughter of John and Mary (Allen) Merrill. She was dead when her father made his will in 1787. They resided at Little Falls, Maine.

Children, bap. First Cong. Church, Biddeford, Me.:

i Miriam, bap. 8 Apr 1759; m. Joseph Drew? (see Hollis, Me. VR) 20 Mar 1809.

ii Joseph Pike, bap. 15 Jun 1760 dy.

iii Martha, bap. 12 Sep 1762, m. 15 Dec 1790 Charles Dow, both of Little Falls. (Marriages solemnized 1784-1831 in Hollis, Lyman, and neighboring towns by the Rev. Simon Locke, the 2nd Baptist minister in Maine. ms p 27.)

68 iv Andrew Jr., of Hollis, bap. 1 Jul 1764.

ix Mercy, bap. 3 Jun 1772; m. 16 Feb 1792 Moses Gutridge of Pepperellboro.

27. ZEBULON GORDON (Joseph[3], John[2], Alexander[1]) Born Biddeford, Maine 1 Mar 1738, d. 27 Jul 1810, on which date his widow Molly was named adm. of his estate. Her brother, Robert Rumery, was app guardian of the four minor children. After the widow's dower was set out, division of the estate was made Nov 1811 to the following; Daniel, Joseph, Reuben, Jeremiah, and Luke, sons; Polly and Miriam, daus. and James Staples in right of Sally his wife, a daughter.

On 16 Nov 1770 Zebulon's father deeded him a large lot of land in Little Falls, and he settled there before 1780 with his older brothers John and Andrew as neighbors. Zebulon married 1st in Biddeford, Keziah Clark, dau. of James and Mary Clark. He m. 2nd Sarah Hatch, possibly of Kennebunk. He m. third 26 Dec 1786, Sarah Chandler of Massabeesic, perhaps a widow. Zebulon was then ready for a fourth wife and the only other Zebulon of that time known to me was his son, Zebulon Jr., b. 20 Feb 1774. According to Saco Valley Settlements, the mar. int. of Zebulon Gordon of Hollis and Abigail Ferguson were published 21 May 1791. If this was Zebulon Jr., he was only a few months over seventeen and young to marry even for those days. If it was the father Zebulon, something upset the match, as Zebulon certainly never married Abigail, but did marry 4th, int. 2 Mar 1702, Molly, widow of Dudley Gordon #23, and dau. of Thomas and Charity Rumery of Biddeford.

Children by Keziah Clark:

i Zebulon, b. 20 Feb 1774, d. 15 Apr 1795. As Zebulon Gordon Jr. he witnessed a deed from his father to Joseph Pike Gordon 19 Dec 1792, but no further mention of him has been found and he was not represented in division of his father's estate in 1811.

ii Huldah, b. 19 Oct 1775. She did not share in the division of her father's estate.

iii Eunice, b. 30 May 1777, not represented in division of her father's estate in 1811.

iv Josiah, b. 4 May 1779, d. 12 May 1813. George A. Gordon says he died 1814. A copy of Wells town records shows marriage of Joseph Gordon of Phillipsburg to Esther Ross of Wells on 20 Nov 1800; a copy of Kennebunk church records shows marriage of Josiah Gordon to Esther Ross, same date. Was the groom Joseph or Josiah Gordon, and if the latter, was he the Josiah, son of Zebulon? Did Josiah have children? An old document shows that Josiah's half brother, Jeremiah, had an interest in his estate, but it in not clear whether this interest came to Jeremiah as one of his brother's heirs (which he would not have been had Josiah left children) or through some business deal between the two.

Children by Sarah Hatch:

v Sarah Abigail Hatch, b. 22 Mar 1782; mar. int. 1 Dec 1803 James Staples Jr., b. 5 Jun 1775, d. 19 Oct 1838 of Phillipsburg (later called Hollis). Children: Mary Staple, b. 28 Oct 1804, m. George Hatch; Zebulon Gordon Staple, b. 31 May 1813, d. 22 Apr 1892, m. Martha Freeman; Dorothy Staple, b. 6 Apr 1817, m. Married 28 Dec 1756 Mary Glidden of Brentwood, N.H., b. at Exeter, dau. of Jonathan Glidden and Margaret Bean. Page 107 of the Bean Genealogy, 1918, says, "Margaret Bean[3] b. Exeter, N.H., d. 1756 Epping, N.H., m. 12-31-1729 Greenland, N.H. Jonathan Glidden, b. 1696 Exeter, d. 1796 Unity, N.H., the son of Capt. Richard Glidden. Res. Epping. They were Quakers. (child) Mary Glidden, b. ____, d. 1819 Readfield, Me., m. 2-28-1756 at Kingston, N.H. Ithiel Gordon". This marriage took place in the First Church of Kingston, N.H. by Rev. Joseph Secomb. If the family were in Brentwood at that time, they must have moved soon after to Chester into that part of the town known as Freetown or North Woods. Chester was incorporated in 1722. Ithiel Gordon's name is listed among the soldiers of the French and Indian War 1754-1760. If the family lived in Brentwood, they must have moved to Chester before 1764. They lived in the part of Chester that became Raymond in 1764. In 1769 widow Jenkins was paid twelve shillings for teaching a term of four weeks of school in Raymond, N.H. Fifteen shilling was paid Ithiel Gordon for going after her, boarding her, and carrying her home again. Ithiel Gordon was tax collector for the town of Raymond in 1769, 70, 71, 73 and selectman in 1778-9. On Sep 15, 1777 the rebuilding of the Dudley Bridge in Raymond was bid off to Ithiel for $104. The list of soldiers of the Revolutionary War from Raymond includes Eliphlet (101) Gordon, Thomas Gordon (39), Ithiel Gordon (38), and Daniel Gordon Jr. (40) (see New Hampshire State Papers Vol XIV, Vol 1 of Rev. rolls p 584). Ithiel Gordon enlisted from Raymond for three years, or during the war in Capt. Rowell's Co., list dated 10 May 1778. (see N.H. State papers Vol. 16, Vol. 3 Rev. rolls page 807). Two of Ithiel Gordon's sons were in the Rev. War also, Josiah (96) and Ithiel Jr. (97). Ithiel and his family moved from Raymond to Winthrop, Me. about the year 1783. This is indicated by his signature to deeds. In the year 1782 he signed as Raymond and 1783 as Winthrop. This last deed was a conveyance of property in Raymond. In an old account book of Samuel Gilman of Washington Plantation (later Mt. Vernon, Me.) a tailor by trade, there is a credit item under the date of 17 Jun 1785 to Ithiel Gordon.

At the time of the first U.S. census in 1790, Ithiel Gordon, his wife, four daughters and two sons, one over sixteen and the other under sixteen were living in Winthrop, probably in that part of town that became Readfield in 1797.

41. ENOCH GORDON (Benoni[3], Thomas[2], Alexander[1]) Born Poplin, a part of Exeter, N.H., 2 Feb 1745, d. New Hampton, N.H. 1839. Married 1st 1767 at New Hampton, Polly Sarah Carter, dau. of Moses Carter, the prosperous first settler who built a fashionable brick house on the Hersey Valley Turnpike. Carter Mountain was named for him. Married 2nd 1778 at New Hampton, Abigail Ladd, b. 1759, d. 1799, dau.of Stephen Ladd and Abigail Webster of Exeter, N.H. (her mother was Abigail Webster of the Daniel Webster line). M. 3rd, int. 15 Jan 1801 at New Hampton, Mary Eastman, b. Sanbornton, N.H.

Enoch Gordon migrated to New Hampton, N.H. as one of the first settlers, about 1765. Two of his brothers and six of his cousins also settled at New Hampton. This may be why the Gordon name is so well known at New Hampton. Enoch's first cabin was in the brush field on the Old Turnpike Road northeast of the Bubbling cold spring below the now deserted Robinson Farm, also once called the "Gordon Stock Farm". In 1780, in connection with his cousin, James (#48), he bought of Gen. Jonathan Moulton of Hampton, 200 acres of land in New Hampton. Enoch lived his entire life there and died there in 1839 at the age of 84.

Enoch Gordon was a Revolutionary War soldier and saw action in one of the most important engagements of the War for American Independence. When General Burgoyne advanced down Lake Champlain and captured Ticonderoga in June 1777, all northern New England was alarmed. Enoch joined Captain Charles Taylor's company at Sanbornton, N.H. which was in Colonel Thomas Stickney's regiment, and they assembled at Charlestown, N.H. (Old Fort #4) to join John Stark's brigade as the Northern Army. They crossed the Connecticut at the mouth of the Black River and proceeded over the mountain passes through Peru, Vermont to Bennington, Vermont. Thence, they marched down the Walloomsac River. They met and repulsed the Hessians and Tories under Colonel Frederick Baum at the Battle of Bennington on 16 Aug 1777. This led to Burgoyne's surrender at Saratoga on 17 Oct 1777. Enoch was mustered out Sep 1777. No record of further service in the Revolution is found. (Personal records of Mrs. R.A. Hall and Mrs. Hazel Brook, Genealogist, Sec. to Mass. Soc. Sons of the American Revolution, and family bible records Benoni Gordon. Also, PR GAG and Dorothy Gordon Warthen).

42. JOSIAH GORDON (Benoni[3], Thomas[2], Alexander[1]) Born Poplin, now Fremont, New Hampshire, bap. 28 Aug 1748, d. 1819, probably at New Hampton, N.H. Married 1775 his cousin, Hannah Gordon, dau. of Timothy Gordon (#17) and Maria Stockbridge. They lived at New Hampton. Josiah was one of the nine grandsons of Thomas Gordon and Elizabeth Harriman who came to New Hampton from Brentwood and Poplin between 1780 and 1800. Hannah evidently came to Farmington, Maine to live with one of her children, as she died there 25 Dec 1833 and is buried at Riverside Cemetery in the lot of Levi Gordon (#119). Some of the children may have been born at Poplin.

Mary Hyde, b. 22 Oct 1756, d. between 1808-13 at Grand Isle. She was the dau. of Jacob and Hannah (Hazen) Hyde. N.H. Papers vol XXX p 438: "Enl. 26 Nov 1775 served as Sergeant. His name appears on a Muster Roll of Captain Elijah Babcocks Co. in Maj. John Brown's Detachment. Now in the United Colonies Service. Dated at Camp near Quebec, 12th Day of Feby. 1776"

Hazen Family by T.E. Hazen p 70: "Alexander Gordon was Lieut. in Capt. Jacob Wood's Co., Col. Thomas Lee's Regt. which did service at Castleton, Vt. 10 June 1781. (Vt. Rev. Rolls p 381)". Alexander Gordon was one of the first settlers of Grand Isle, Vt. He settled on the very tip of the North end of Grand Isle where he established a ferry. The first tavern in Grand Isle was opened by him at the ferry in 1790. Alexander Gordon was first Justice of the Peace and Selectman in 1786. His name appears hundreds of times in the town records, and his estate was unsettled for many years after his death (1802-36) That he had a family is proven by the first U.S. census of 1790:
6 males inc. head of family, over 16 yrs.; 0 males under 16 yrs.
3 females inc. head of family, all ages.

Part of this '1790' family may have been his brother Willard Gordon who came to Grand Isle in 1788 unm. Yet,in the second U.S. Federal census of 1800 Alexander Gordon is listed with the following household:
1 male 1-16yrs.
2 males 45yrs and up
1 female under 16yrs.
1 female 16-26yrs.
1 female 16-45yrs.
His wife and family seem to disappear. No record of Mary (Hyde) Gordon's death or burial has been found.

His widow and son, George Turner Noyes live at Bethlehem, N.H. George was m. in 1931 at St. Thomas Episcopal Church, Hanover, N.H. and had two daughters.

Sybil Noyes, author of Genealogical Dictionary of Maine and New Hampshire writes, "The Gordons have always been my favorite line, probably because of the fact that my brothers and I were born and brought up in Saco in the old home of Jeremiah Gordon (#74) with the furniture etc. about as it was in his day. It was not antique furniture tho, we had only a very few old pieces. Then all our family connection in Saco was through Jeremiah or his wife. As you will note, my maternal grand father (Whitten) was from K'port and all his relatives were there. My Noyes grandparents spent all their married life in Saco, but neither belonged there or had family connections there. By the time I can remember, my grandfather Noyes (born in Brunswick, Me.) was dead, and my grandmother Noyes (born in Kennebec County) was living in Mass. with her daughter - so the whole early atmosphere for me was Gordon".

The war of 1812 was the cause of considerable excitement throughout New England. The county of Kennebec was constantly on the alert and many companies of men enlisted during the latter part of the war. During the year 1814 the British fleet continually hovered along the coast of Maine and during the summer months Eastport was seized and the British ships ascended the Penobscot River and captured Bangor, and other places. "The Adams", a U.S. Vessel of war, was burned near Bangor by the commander to prevent her from falling into the hands of the enemy. Her crew retired into the woods, and crossed the country from the Penobscot to the Kennebec spreading the alarm that the enemy were approaching.

On Saturday Sept. 10, a special town meeting was held at Augusta to consider the safety of the towns. A committee was appointed who reported that the selectmen should be directed "to procure 200 lb of powder at once, and a quantity of material for tents, camp kettles,etc.". Sunday, the following day while at a church service, Gen. Sewell received a dispatch from the committee of safety at Wiscasset asking for a thousand men, as the enemy threatened a landing. Colonel Stones and Colonel Sweets regiments, with Hallowell artillery marched at once in companies for Wiscasset.

On Sept. 15, General Sewell went to assume the command of the troops. In Lieut. Col. Sweets regiment there were two companies raised at Mt. Vernon, Maine. Later a company of militia was drafted from Readfield and attached to Lieut. Col. Ellis Sweets regiment. Among the commissioned officers were John Smith, Captain; Samuel Benjamin, Lieutenant; Joseph Gilman, Sergeant. The records of the Massachusetts Volunteers Militia, p 282 give the following:

Married 18 Sep 1838 Lovina Sherburne or Sherbourn, b. 14 Sep 1819, dau of Capt. Thomas Sherbourn (1790-1847), a son of Job Sherbourn and his 1st wife Sarah Smith (ca. 1797-1830), one of the early settlers of Readfield. Lovina Sherbourn was a half sister to Joseph and Llewellyn Sherbourn. Lovina d. 1 Jun 1903 and is bur. with her husband at E. Readfield. They lived at the Gordon Homestead for a number of years then traded it with his oldest brother for a place where he was living, which later became known as the Harrison Gordon place. This farm is near the Dudley Plains.

Stephen Gordon had the measles, partly recovered, got cold and had congestion of the lungs. His wife continued to live on the farm which passed into the hands of the oldest son, Thomas Harrison Gordon. She reserved rooms in the house for her personal use. This is a description of Stephen by his son, Albion: "S. Gordon was a tall muscular man of about six feet in height, broad shoulders, weighing about 180 lbs., black hair and dark blue eyes, always shaved the upper part of his face leaving well trimmed chin whiskers. He was a quiet temperate man, firm in his decisions, a singer and regular attendant of the Baptist Church".

After trading places with his brother William, Stephen enlarged the barn, built a blacksmith shop where he did a great deal of work shoeing horses, etc., making the shoes and nails himself. He next built a dwelling house, corn barn and shed, doing most of the work himself, his bro. Daniel helping on the cellar as he was a stone mason. On this farm he usually kept 12 or 15 head of cattle, a horse and 25 sheep. In the last years of his life he took the contract to build the road from his house to the place now owned by Nelson Luce (year 1911). This job was bid on and he bid it off for $212. With the help of his sons Harrison and Albion 10 and 12 years old who rode the scraper, he did most of the work. When it was completed he had paid out just $12 for help leaving him $200. (The man he hired worked for 4 shillings a day). In the last 12 years of his life he paid a debt of $900 with the help of his wife, built up the farm, raised nine children and left real estate and personal property valued at $3000.

Josiah Gordon purchased in 1826 from Zacheus Clough front lot number 20 on the west side of Sandy River near Farmington Falls. In 1830 his uncle Timothy bought lot number 19 and moved down from N.H. In 1860 Josiah moved from the farm to West Farmington. In 1875 the family moved to Cal. where he took up residence at Berkeley. Josiah had signed a note upon which he had to make good the payment. Josiah and Belinda Gordon never returned to Farmington. Neither did any of their children. What is known regarding them is gleaned from letters they wrote to the family of Luther Gordon and family of Grace Gordon Whittier. No doubt many of their letters were destroyed during the 86 years that have elapsed. Josiah's three sons, Charles, George and Edwin had gone to Cal. in the 1850's and settled at Berkeley. In 1993 Wenonah Finch Sharpe of Port Ludlow, Washington made a giant effort to locate the descendants of Josiah and Belinda Gordon in California and met with great success. This family is now greatly updated and extends to the ninth generation.

Gordon was grad. from Dartmouth College AB in 1846, AM 1849. He took up civil engineering and was employed to assist in the erection of the Atlantic cotton mills at Lawrence. Later he was similarly employed upon the buildings of the Print works at Manchester, N.H. He had full charge of the erection of the mills at Lewiston, Maine. In 1855 he bought out The Lawrence Sentinel, which he edited and published during the Buchanan presidential campaign, that paper being the local organ of the Democratic Party. Afterward he went to Detroit as draftsman for the Detroit Locomotive works. In June 1857 he went to Charleston, S. Carolina to become assistant editor of The Charleston Mercury. He remained with the paper till just before the outbreak of the Civil War. He was next sought out by owners of gold mines at Dahlonega, northern Georgia, to act as engineer in the operations. In 1862 most of the miners went into the Southern Army and engineer Gordon found employment in mines in North Carolina. He accepted an appointment as assistant quartermaster in the 'Home Guard' in the 1st regiment, State of Georgia troops, with the rank of Captain. In 1866, Captain Gordon and his family were back again at Lawrence. Afterward he lived at Lowell and then Somerville. Editorial work, both book and newspaper, has occupied much of his time since, and he has been engaged also in the buiness affairs of publication. He was long identified with The Somerville Journal.

Prior to her m. she lived in Hermon, Maine, the dau. of Moses and Ruth (Worthen) Sleeper of Bristol, N.H.

Learning the papermaker's trade, William Gordon eventually engaged in that business on his own account, and for many years was prominently identified with that industry establishing mills in various places in this state. About the year 1857 he engaged in the paper manufacturing business in Canaan, and carried it on successfully until the breaking out of the Civil War when he rented his mill in order to enlist in Company F. Fifteenth Regiment, N.H. Volunteers, and was chosen Captain. At the seige of Port Hudson he was severely wounded and left on the field for dead, but ultimately recovered and was finally mustered out with an honorable record. After his return from the army he resumed the management of his paper mill at Canaan, but sold the plant in 1870 to Messrs. George and Bugbee and established a mill in Andover, N.H., for the manufacture of straw wrapping paper. He subsequently engaged in the hotel business, first at what is known as the Potter place in the town of Andover, and later at Canaan.

In politics, William Gordon was a Republican, and while residing at the Potter place he served as postmaster. In his religious belief he was a Free Will Baptist. His business prominence and military record gained for him a wide circle of acquaintances throughout the state, and he is especially remembered by his more intimate friends as a talented musician. He played the bass viol and composed music. Resided Andover and Canaan, N.H.

Ephraim Gordon graduated from Dartmouth 1871, chose the profession of civil engineering and entered upon a career which was full of promise. He had secured a position in New York City when a terrible disease began to make itself manifest. Gradually the joints of his body ossified. At the time of his death he had been unable to move hand or foot for about 20 years. Even his jaw was stiffened; but as his tongue was not affected, he could talk, which faculty, with his hearing, being the only ones left him. He had been blind for several years. Despite his physical condition, Mr. Gordon's mental faculties remained active to the last. His condition attracted attention, not only from the medical profession of Manchester, but from that of other parts of the country. His disease was called rheumatoid arthritis.

602. HARRY GORDON (George[6], Ebenezer[5], Timothy[4,3], Thomas[2], Alexander[1]) Born Lowell, Mass. 20 Aug 1866, d. Passaic, New Jersey 9 May 1931. Married 1st 4 Oct 1893 Anna (Annie) Genevieve Davis, b. 18 Jun 1871, d. Cataumet, Mass. 31 Jul 1901, dau. of Alden P. and Mary L. (----) Davis of Cataumet, Mass. Anna Davis was one of over one hundred murder victims of Jane Toppan (see article in Coronet Magazine, Dec 1954 page 161-5, and article in Boston Times, August 19, 1938).

Gordon—Davis.

The marriage of Harry Gordon and Miss Anna Genevieve Davis occurred at the home of the bride's father, Alden P. Davis, in Cataumet, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. N. K. Bishop in the presence of relatives from Concord, N. H., Malden, Somerville, and Cataumet.

The wedding took place in the music room, which was beautifully decorated with flowers and plants. The bridal party was preceded by Master Paul Davis Gibbs, nephew of the bride, and little Miss Eleanor Gordon, niece of the groom, who carried baskets of lilies of the valley. The bride wore a dress of cream china silk, trimmed with pompadour point lace, a tulle veil, and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley.

After the ceremony a wedding lunch was served. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon left on the afternoon train for Chicago. Upon their return they will reside at 21 Harvard place.

Over patient after patient Nurse Toppan murmured . . .

"Everywhere I Go, DEATH"

by JACK ROSS

IT WAS HOT in Cataumet the morning they buried Mattie Davis, and the solemn file of men and women who followed her plain pine casket up Cemetery Hill sweltered in their stiff black Sunday clothes. The words of the psalm—"Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death"—seemed to hang beneath the motionless pines. Beyond, the waters of Buzzard's Bay were glassy still, the backdrop for a moment suspended in time. It was July 7, 1901.

Then it was over. The mourners turned their backs on the newly-made grave—the widower, old Captain Davis, now a little older, a trifle more bent; his married daughters, Mary Gibbs and Annie Gordon; relatives from Cambridge; and most of the inhabitants of the little Cape Cod fishing village.

One last mourner gazed fixedly at the open grave—a plump, matronly woman whose bland face betrayed nothing of what she felt or thought as she tossed a handful of earth on the coffin. Then she too turned and, muttering an inaudible sentence, started down the hill.

She was a nurse named Jane Toppan. It was she, an old friend, whom Mattie Davis had journeyed to Cambridge to visit; she who had cared for the captain's wife in her sudden delirium; and, finally, she who had sent the tragic word—"Mattie is dead"—and accompanied the pine box back to Cataumet.

Now, in the house of bereavement, Nurse Toppan prepared for the trip home.

"You're not leaving us now, are you, Jane?" asked Alden Davis, distressed.

"Yes, I'd best be on my way."

"But Annie is ailing. And I'm not well either. We'd all feel much easier if you stayed a few days."

Nurse Toppan stood silently for a moment, gazing out the window. Then she said, "Everywhere I go, death seems to follow me. It would be best for all of you if I left."

"No, no," Davis replied sharply. "We need you."

And so the nurse agreed to remain, but her words clung in the old man's mind. "Everywhere I go, death . . ."

It was true. A blight seemed to hover over Nurse Toppan's patients, and despite her skillful care and tender ministrations they faltered, seemingly just at the point of recovery, and slipped away from her. There had been her foster sister, Mrs. O. M. Brigham, in Lowell; Myra Connors and Mr. and Mrs. Israel Dunham in Cambridge; and others, many others. But without exception, their families had expressed gratitude for Nurse Toppan's efforts, and even extended to her their sympathy.

The summer days, hot and oppressive, faded one into another in the cottage of Alden Davis. Annie Gordon, his ailing daughter, seemed to rally but had to rest frequently; and Nurse Toppan cared for her two small children, too. Occasionally she sent a postcard to Annie's husband in Chicago, assuring him that all was well.

Then, on a night when the heat broke in violent storm, Captain Davis was awakened by a sharp call. He hurried to where a single light glimmered beside Annie's bed: she lay there writhing in coma while Nurse Toppan bathed her feverish brow.

"You had best call Dr. Walters quickly, Captain," said the nurse. "I am afraid she is sinking."

Davis went to telephone as Nurse Toppan turned back to the moaning girl. "I'm afraid, Nurse. I'm afraid." She tossed fretfully.

"There, there," crooned Nurse Toppan, deftly inserting a hypodermic needle into Annie's arm.

Captain David returned to the room, a helpless, hopeless look on his aged face. Wind and rain beat against the house and in each lull, he listened for Annie's breathing. She seemed quieter.

Soon the doctor was bustling up the steps, looking at the girl, feeling her pulse, then turning to face father and nurse: "This girl is dead."

Two days later, a stunned, grief-stricken husband and a trembling, heartsick old man led a new procession on the now-familiar journey up the long hill to the burial ground. Again Nurse Toppan prepared to leave. Again Captain Davis asked her to stay.

"I feel I should have done something," she said heavily. "Now I can't bear to look at those motherless tots."

"You mustn't blame yourself, Jane," said the old man listlessly. "You did all that was humanly possible. Please stay."

And Nurse Toppan stayed.

A few days after his daughter's funeral, Captain Davis went to Boston and returned late in the evening, exhausted from the trip. Nurse Toppan gave him a sedative and helped him to his room.

"You'll be fine in the morning," she said soothingly.

But in the morning Captain Davis did not come down for breakfast; and when his daughter, Mary Gibbs, went to call him, he was beyond answering. Mouth agape and face gray, the old man lay dead.

"It must have been a stroke," said the nurse. "The grief and all."

Mary Gibbs was the last of the Davises now. Her husband, Captain Irving Gibbs, was at sea and, in the grip of a strange uneasiness, Mary sent for a cousin, Beulah Jacobs, to come and stay with her.

In the town, whenever a group of people met, there was hushed talk of the mysterious tragedy that had carried off three of the Davises so quickly. For hours, Mary Gibbs sat staring through the window toward the cemetery. The color faded from her cheeks and fear clouded her eyes.

One afternoon, Nurse Toppan came into the sitting room with a glass. "Dr. Walters prescribed this. It will do you good."

The girl took the glass and drank its colorless contents. An hour later she told her cousin: "I feel perfectly awful."

Mrs. Jacobs and Nurse Toppan helped Mary to her room. For a while, her dilated eyes fluttered from one to the other without accurately focusing on either. Then she slipped into a restless sleep. Before dawn, Jane Toppan still at her side, Mary Gibbs began thrashing in her bed, moaning. Shortly after daybreak she was dead.

By the time Captain Gibbs returned from his voyage, unaware that his wife had died, Nurse Toppan was gone from Cataumet to tend a patient in Lowell. Someone came forward to reveal that the suggestion of an autopsy on the body of Mary Gibbs had been rebuffed by Nurse Toppan: "The poor child told me to look after her and I'm going to do it—even now."

The doctors spoke up. It would have seemed that Mary died of morphine poisoning—except for one thing: the dilation of her eye-pupils. Remembering, Dr. Walters revealed that the symptoms of each of the Davises had been identical.

It was enough for Captain Gibbs. He went to the police. Detective J. H. Whitney listened somberly as the story was unfolded, then he called the medical examiner. A chemist was consulted. That night, whispered word spread through Cataumet that they were going to dig up Mary Gibbs' coffin.

Low-hanging clouds obscured the moon, lanterns cast flickering shadows over Cemetery Hill and only the sound of scraping shovels broke the stillness as Captain Gibbs and Detective Whitney in tight-lipped silence watched the earth yield its burden. In a nearby barn, the medical examiner removed the vital organs and dispatched them to Prof. E. S. Wood at Harvard.

Meanwhile it was learned that Jane Toppan, who proudly told one and all that she had been head nurse at Cambridge Hospital, had been discharged from that institution when it was revealed that she wasn't even a graduate nurse. Her certificate had been forged.

Three days later, the medical examiner handed a telegram to Detective Whitney: "Have found large traces of morphine in the viscera. (signed) Wood."

"We had best locate Miss Top-pan at once," said Whitney. "There are some things she must account for."

She was born not Jane Toppan, but Honora Kelly. Her father was a tailor who, in the midst of a seemingly normal existence, suddenly went berserk. People took to calling him Kelly the Crack, and before long he was committed to a Massachusetts insane asylum.

For a while, little Nora lived with her grandmother, and then was placed in a Boston orphanage. It was there, when she was seven, that Mr. and Mrs. Abner Toppan of Lowell, whose daughter was already grown, came looking for a child to share their home.

They changed Honora Kelly's name to their own; they did everything they could to make her feel wanted and loved and, in the girl's early years, they seemingly succeeded. Then something happened to Jane Toppan: she fell in love. The young man seemed to return her affections at first and gave her a handsome ring. Then he left Lowell to seek a better job and the next thing Jane knew, he was married.

She fell to brooding and rarely left the house. She bought dream books. Once she tried to commit suicide.

Jane was almost 29 when, unexpectedly, she announced to her foster parents that she was going to become a nurse. She enrolled in a Cambridge hospital and quickly became a favorite of the staff for her industriousness.

One thing alone was wrong: other students began to wonder aloud why she spent so much time watching autopsies. Then, when an obviously recuperating patient died suddenly, the doctors called Jane Toppan in for questioning, but nothing was reported to the police. When she was later discharged for forging her nursing certificate, Jane Toppan went out among the old and the sick "to comfort them in their neediest hours."

LATE ON THE EVENING of October 29, 1901, Detective Whitney reached the home of George Nichols in Amherst, New Hampshire. Jane, still heeding the call of the old and the sick, opened the door.

"Miss Toppan," said the police officer crisply, "please collect your things. You are under arrest for the murder of Mrs. Irving Gibbs."

The color drained from Nurse Toppan's ruddy cheeks, but she did as she was bid. Once back in Massachusetts, however, she regained her aplomb. At her arraignment, she pleaded not guilty.

Meanwhile, police had begun a grisly chore. All over eastern Massachusetts, bodies long at rest were removed from their graves and examined by Professor Wood. Without exception, he reported, each one of Jane Toppan's suspected victims was killed by morphine. A systematic search of Cape Cod drug records led to the pharmacy of Benjamin Waters in Wareham. Yes, said Waters, Nurse Toppan had bought morphine in his store, 120 quarter-grains. He produced a doctor's prescription for each one. All were forgeries.

And now a strange thing happened. Men and women who remembered the sympathy and kindnesses of the round-faced nurse sprang to her defense. Relatives of many of her deceased patients collected money for a defense fund.

An alienist, Dr. Henry R. Stedman, visited Jane Toppan in her cell from time to time, chatting about nothing in particular. Noticing her increasing tenseness, he began to talk of sickness and death and, finally, of murder. "Did you kill them, Jane?" he asked.

"Yes," she whispered, "I killed them. I killed all of them. They were sick and I eased their suffering. I had to do it. It relieved me."

She told how she had injected morphine first, then atropine to hide the poison's symptoms. She told how she would wait until her patients were almost well, the better to feel her own strength and power when she killed them. She would stand by the bedside, watching, watching, as the morphine reduced the patient's pupils to mere dots; then she would administer atropine and, when the eyes were wide and vacant, start over again.

Altogether, she named 31 victims; but the police later had good reason to believe that there were perhaps 70 others. Nothing determined her choice of victims but the need to kill, an urge which became more compelling with each death.

The confession broke like a storm over Massachusetts. Nothing more was heard of the defense funds.

The trial opened on June 23, 1902, with Nurse Toppan clutching a hand rail for support as Dr. Stedman took the stand. After reporting her confession, he concluded: "Jane Toppan is suffering from a form of insanity that can never be cured."

She was committed for life to the Taunton State Hospital. Once there, she alternated between a frenzied fear that someone was about to poison her, and the sweet simplicity of a child.

On the morning of August 17, 1938, Jane didn't get out of bed. By noon, aged 81, she was dead.

Newcomers to the asylum remembered her as a quiet old lady who caused no trouble. But there were others who recalled how, now and then, she would sidle up to them. "Get some morphine, dearie," she would whisper, "and we'll go out in the ward . . ."

MISS JANE TOPPAN, 84, MASS POISONER, DIES

Institution Inmate Many Years Admitted Slaying 100 Persons

TAUNTON, Mass., Aug. 17 (AP).—Jane Toppan, often referred to as "one of the most notorious poisoners of the world," died today in Taunton State Hospital, where she had been an inmate for more than thirty-six years. She was 84 years old.

Arrested when she was 45, Miss Toppan confessed killing "at least 100 persons," including Captain Abner Toppan and his wife, a Lowell couple who took her in as an infant from a Boston foundling institution.

She was acquitted of murder in a Barnstable County Court because of inherited insanity but was committed June 24, 1902, to life in a State hospital. Herbert Parker, Attorney General at the time, testified she had killed many of her friends and on two occasions wiped out entire families.

The Barnstable trial resulted from the deaths of Alden P. Davis, his wife and two daughters at Cataumet on Cape Cod.

At the time of her arrest, doctors and nurses who had worked with her were loud in their denunciation of authorities. Later, however, she told newspaper men in Barnstable jail:

"I have given the alienists and Herbert Parker the names of thirty-one persons I killed, but, as a matter of fact, I killed many more whose names I cannot recall. I think it would be safe to say that I killed at least 100 from the time I became a nurse at a Boston hospital, where I killed the first one, until I ended the lives of the Davis family."

When first arrested, and until after her committal, Miss Toppan appeared nearly normal. Soon after her incarceration, she became violent and for years was kept in a strait-jacket. Of late years, however, hospital officials said, she had been a "quiet old lady—just another patient who caused no trouble."

754. WILLIAM WATSON GORDON (Henry[7], Smith[6], Ithiel[5,4], Daniel[3], Thomas[2], Alexander[1]) Born at Farmington, Maine 26 Jun 1866, d. 17 Mar 1937. Married at Southbridge, Mass. 3 Apr 1893, Annie Louise Lyon, dau. of Clayton Tourtellotte Lyon and Maria Lyon (dau. of Stephen Lyon). Annie Lyon d. 25 Oct 1925. William and Annie are buried in Woodstock (Conn.) Hill Cemetery. William Gordon during his early years worked with his father who was a carriage maker at Millbury, Mass., and later, at N. Woodstock. After marriage he purchased a small farm in English neighborhood, N. Woodstock, Conn., but was not too successful at farming. He continued to work with iron for Mr. Skinner at N. Woodstock. In later years, he worked in the knife mfg. shops at Southridge, where he proved very skillful, being quick, thorough, and a hard worker. He was employed at the Stephen Richard Co. for some years, and later at the Hyde Mfg. Co. for more years.

Annie Lyon Gordon taught school, first in New Jersey, and then in a number of the Woodstock schools. She stopped teaching around 1906 when married women were prohibited from holding teaching positions. In the meantime, Grandmother Gordon cared for the family during school days. In addition to being a teacher, she was a good, though plain, dressmaker, and made most of the children's clothes until they were grown. Safe to say, she was beloved and admired by all who knew her.
